ELECTION LAWS.

The Appointment and Duties of Federal Supervisors.

The question having been raised we publish the following synopsis of the law regarding the appointment and duties of supervisors of election as prepared by the chief supervisor, Mr. M. F. Pleasant, clerk of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

DUTIES AT ELECTION.

Section 2017. The Supervisors of Election are authorized and required to attend at all times and places for holding elections of Representatives in Congress, and for counting the votes cast at such election; to challenge any vote offered by any person whose legal qualifications either of the Supervisors may doubt; to be and remain where the ballot-boxes are kept at all times after the polls are open until every vote cast at such time and place has been counted, the canvass of all votes polled wholly completed, and the proper and requisite certificates or returns made, and to personally inspect and scrutinize from time to time, and at all times, on the day of election, the manner in which the voting is done, and the way and method in which the poll-books, registry lists and tallies or check-books are kept.

Section 2018. The supervisors of election are also required to personally scrutinize, count and canvass each ballot in their election district or voting precinct east, wherever may be the endorsement on the ballot, or in whatever box it may have been placed or be found; to make and forward to the chief supervisor such certificates and returns of all such ballots as he may direct and require, and to attach to the registry list, and any and all copies thereof, and to any certificate, statement or return, any statement touching the truth and accuracy of the registry, or the truth or fairness of the election and canvass, which either of them may desire to make or attach, or which should properly and honestly be made or attached, in order that the facts may become known.

The scrutinizing and counting of the ballots above referred to only requires the supervisors to see that the regular State judges of election do their duty. No one touches the ballots but the judges. The supervisors see them and handle them.

Section 2019 provides where the supervisors shall place themselves. It says, in substance, that the supervisors shall have the right to stand in any place where they can best scrutinize the ballots. They cannot touch the ballots.

Section 5522. Makes it an offense punishable with imprisonment and a fine to interfere with the supervisors in the discharge of their duty.

There have been appointed at each precinct in the city of Richmond two federal supervisors, one Republican and one Democrat for each precinct.

When a Republican was President of the United States every man in Richmond who thought he could make a couple of dollars by being a Republican United States Marshal was made a deputy by the regular marshal and surrounded the polls. This year, as was the case two years ago, there will be no deputy marshals.

The city police are all honest men, are amply able to protect the judges of election and Federal supervisors in the discharge of their duties and keep order around the polls.

All Souls' Day.

Yesterday in the Roman Catholic Church was All Souls' Day, and at Mount Calvary Cemetery religious exercises were held. All the priests in Richmond were present. The electric cars yesterday morning were packed, and, varying from the regular rule during Exposition days to stop at Broad and Harrison streets, the heavily loaded cars with human freight ran through to the nearest point on Ashland street, where the occupants could get off and go to the cemetery.

At the cemetery was presented an interesting scene, and all who were there paid fitting tribute to the dead.

Richmond Theatre.

The Ivy Leaf, the first performance of which was given last night at the theatre, is a genuine Irish drama of the school which Boucicault has made familiar. There are the young lady of good family and her two lovers, the familiar colleen and the brood of a boy who swears by her bright eyes, the spy who is the tool of the villain of the play, and the usual accessories of peasants, police, etc., which belong to every well regulated Irish play. With all, the Ivy Leaf is genuinely dramatic and filled with strong situations, and a skillful blending of pathos and broad comedy which makes it interesting and in parts exciting. Smith O'Brien, who plays Murty Kerrigan, has a fine baritone voice, which he uses to good advantage. W. A. Mack, who as Darby Flynn, has a tenor which is powerful and kept well under control.

Mention must be made of little Zella Leonard, the child who played Little No-rine, as her acting is deserving of special notice for its excellence, and her dancing is simply fairy-like.

There is, too, a piper with genuine Irish harp, who extorted as much music from that instrument as its capabilities would admit of, and received much applause for his struggle with the pipes.

Taken as a whole, "Ivy Leaf" presents an interesting and amusing combination of acting, singing and dancing.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Lord Sackville-West Offered a Splendid Engagement.

$2,000 A WEEK AT A DIME MUSEUM.

General Telegraphic News.

NEW YORK, November 2.—John B. Doris, manager of a Dime Museum on Eighth avenue, has written a letter to Lord Sackville, in which he offers his lordship the sum of $2,000 per week for holding two levees of two hours' duration daily in his museum.

ENGLAND MUST RESENT.

LONDON, November 2.—The Standard, commenting on the Lord Sackville affair, says: "Writing in the most tranquil temper, we are forced to say that Lord Salisbury will either have to devise some means of giving expression to the displeasure of this country or he will fall below what is expected of him and what is due to the honor of his sovereign and his nation. Whether Mr. Phelps be or be not sent here in peace, some expedient must be discovered for serving to the Government and people of the United States our sense of the unfriendliness of their conduct. Unless this be done what man of ordinary spirit can be expected to accept the post of representative of the Cabinet of St. James at Washington?"

FEDERAL ELECTION SUPERVISORS.

Lynchburg Excited Over the Instructions.

LYNCHBURG, VA., November 2.—Much excitement and no little indignation prevails in this section of the State over certain instructions issued to the Federal supervisors of election by Chief Supervisor Linsley of the Western Jurisdiction.

It is claimed that Linsley has failed to discriminate in the duties of supervisors in cities and towns of 20,000, where they have the right of arrest, scrutiny, etc., from the supervisors in counties, where they can act only as witnesses of the election. It is also charged that Linsley in other respects perverted the letter and spirit of the law.

The daily News editorially charges that the instructions are in direct contravention of Section 2029 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and advises State election officers to arrest and put in jail every supervisor in counties who undertakes to exceed his authority as prescribed in said section. The News says: "Under Linsley's instructions, the supervisors may steal the State."

THE NEW YORK ELECTIONS.

Mandamus to Force Votes to be Received After 4 p. m. Refused.

NEW YORK, November 2.—The argument on the question of receiving ballots after 4 o'clock in the afternoon on election day, November 6th, in the Thirty-second election district of the Twenty-second Assembly District, where over one thousand persons have been registered, was heard to-day before Judge Barrett in the Supreme Court. Counsel on behalf of Tammany Hall contended that a mandamus should issue to the inspectors of the election district to receive votes of registered persons after 4 o'clock. Mr. George Bliss opposed the motion. He said he appeared as a private citizen. Justice Barrett, at the close of a lengthy argument, refused to grant the mandamus.

ELECTION DAY.

How It Will be Observed by the Postoffice.

WASHINGTON, November 2.—In answer to numerous communications addressed to the Postoffice Department inquiring whether election day, November 6th, will be observed as a holiday in the various post-offices throughout the United States, as provided by the laws of the several States, Acting Postmaster General Knott to-day promulgated the following order, to-wit: That while election day cannot be observed as a holiday in the postoffices throughout the United States, as such observance would interfere too seriously with the postal service and the public convenience, all postmasters are instructed, however, to so arrange the public business of their respective offices on that day as to give full opportunity to the employees of their offices to exercise their right of suffrage as American citizens.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Dun & Co.'s Weekly Report.

NEW YORK, November 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say: "The interruption of trade by political excitement has increased, as is natural, and yet the volume of business continues larger than usual, and probably larger than in any previous year at this season. In all the larger branches of industry a disposition is observed to wait until the election has passed, and yet transaction to meet immediate necessities and others, apparently prompted by the expectation that sharp changes in prices may follow the election, make up an aggregate which, it is safe to say, has never been equaled in any previous presidential campaign. The dry goods trade has been comparatively quiet, the demand for men's woolen and knit goods being moderate, and for dress goods quite color, while cotton goods are generally firmer without large transactions. The business failures during the last week number, for the United States, 243; for Canada, 32, as compared with 225 in the United States and 29 in Canada during the corresponding week last year."

BALTIMORE, November 2.—The police sloop Mary Compton discovered about four hundred boats dredging on the oyster bar near Swan Point Wednesday. She sailed down, and when within hailing distance the crews on the dredgers opened fire on the State boat. The Compton returned the fire, and several of the schooners were dismantled, but they refused to move on. Reinforced by the steamer McLane, the Compton again attacked the dredgers, and they gave way. Yesterday morning they again appeared on the bar in force, and the Compton once more gave battle. The fight lasted all day, and was the hottest that has yet occurred on the bay. One of the schooners was sunk by a cannon ball. A number of dredgers were wounded.

LOCAL NEWS.

Convention of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Adjourns.

THE FINAL RESULT OF THEIR DELIBERATIONS.

City News in General.

The Convention of Locomotive Engineers which has carried on secret sessions in this city for the past two weeks adjourned yesterday sine die.

The main point decided by the Convention was that they would co-operate and sympathize with other labor organizations in their labor troubles, although they declined active affiliation. They, however, endorsed the action of the men out on the "Q" strike, and agreed to stand by them until a settlement was made.

The Brotherhood have made a fine impression on the people of Richmond by their uniformly good conduct and their wise, conservative and dignified bearing.

A Prominent Republican in Trouble.

Charles Phillips was one of a small party of Republicans who went to Petersburg Thursday to see Mahone and get the boodle with which to pay the expenses of a meeting in the West End, or in failure of having a meeting to get the money and place it where it would do the most good. Phillips is a representative Republican. Before he became a member of the committee to wait on Mahone a warrant for his arrest was in the hands of the police charging him with stealing coal from the Trans-Atlantic Ice Company, now conducted and operated by Mr. Herman Schmidt. This Mahone Republican who wanted to have the men on Oregon Hill to follow his leadership, was arrested yesterday morning about 11 o'clock at his home on Laurel street between Cary and Cumberland, by Sergeant Cousins and Officer Hulcher. He was bailed for his appearance before the Police Court to-morrow.

Police Notes.

Two serious cases were tried in the Police Court yesterday among the short docket of trifling cases.

A BAD CASE.

George F. Cole, Jr., and William Jett, a couple of Manchesterians, together with their friend, D. Osterbird, near midnight were going home over the Free bridge. This was Thursday night. On the bridge there was loud and threatening talk between the three parties. All three were more or less drunk. Osterbird said he could beat Cole and Jett with his hands tied behind him. He consented to have his hands tied behind him, and while in that defenseless condition his watch (valued at $50) and the chain was taken from his person by Cole and Jett. He was then let loose. The parties were arrested, and appeared before Police Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning.

The case was continued. The two prisoners admitted to Mr. Daniel Turner, the bailiff of the Police Court, while he was escorting them to jail that they had actually taken Mr. Osterbird's watch.

BURN US UP.

William Jackson and John Wood, two colored boys, were charged with stealing $35 from Grandison Taylor. The evidence was not sufficient to prove absolutely the guilt of the boys. It did show that one boy showed the others up to the window of Taylor's house and that he entered the room. The Court decided that the boys be either whipped or sent to jail. They were whipped. Their clothing from the waist upwards were taken off and the strap was well laid on their naked backs. The money has not been recovered.

Samuel Wilkinson and Mary Johnson (the latter colored) were fined each $20 and costs for unlawful cohabitation. Emmett Allen (colored) visited Joseph Brown. Allen placed $2.65 in a certain place in his room where Brown was and walked out, and in two minutes returned and found the money missing. Allen was found guilty of stealing the money and went to jail to serve thirty days.

Services at the Male Orphan Asylum.

At the Male Orphan Asylum to-morrow at 4 o'clock p.m. there will be religious exercises, conducted by Rev. William E. Evans, of the Park Place Methodist Church.

The veterans at the Soldiers' Home will be present at the worship. The boys of the Asylum, under the directorship of Mrs. Gill, will render good music.

"Jim the Penman."

A crowded house witnessed "Jim the Penman" at the Academy last night, and the performance was received with, if possible, more enthusiasm than on the opening night. The play grows in popular favor the more it is seen, and at the matinee this afternoon and at the closing performance to-night it is safe to predict that the house will be crowded. A Richmond audience never fails to appreciate a really excellent play, and "Jim the Penman" is one which is deserving of all commendation.

STATE NEWS.

Attention, Southwest Virginians!

ABINGDON, VA., October 31.—The weather is beautiful to-day. I trust it will continue until next Tuesday night. The Democrats had a grand time yesterday at Denham's Switch. John A. Buchanan, Governor Bob Taylor of Tennessee, Judge Marshall and Colonel Jim Richmond, all spoke and had a regular love feast.

Colonel Richmond was here this morning to fill his appointment to speak here, but the committee called in the appointment and sent him to Russell. He is doing valiant service for the party.

I will make a few extracts from the letter of an honest, level-headed man in Philadelphia, Pa., the home of high protection. The letter came to-day. He says: "If Harrison is elected, I have no idea he will be, the country will be set back twenty-five years, and a sale of lands in Southwestern Virginia or Eastern Kentucky will be almost impossible. The reign of Harrison will bring bloody-shirtism, which will drive capital from the South, not to return."

"I can't, for my life, see how they can beat Mr. Cleveland. If they should, though, I'll never make a prediction on an election again as long as I live. I'm as fully satisfied of the result as if I had seen it in the papers after the election. History generally repeats itself, and on no page of history can I find the noble, the just, and the truthful, ignored by the people."—Advance Signal.

General Apathy, which some one has well said is a bad general, is not commanding the forces. They are confident of carrying this county by one or two thousand majority.

Some of the "puls" are trying to scare voters by telling them that Cleveland is a Roman Catholic and in favor of the suppression of all Protestant worship. This is characteristic of Republican campaign tactics in this section. The average Republican will make this assertion, and look as though he wants you to "please get scared now." Such is the way of Republicanism, and we hope they will be relegated to the shades of oblivion on the 6th of November.—Lynchburg Advance.

ROANOKE, VA., November 1.—Captain Blackford had a good crowd to-night. He discussed the issues of the canvass from a business standpoint, won the sympathy of his hearers and aroused them to a sense of their duty. Good results may be expected next Tuesday. Captain Figgatt stopped over en route for Halifax and spoke briefly, pledging Botetourt for the usual Democratic majority.—Lynchburg Virginian.

LANGSTON LOSING GROUND.—Farmville, Va., October 31.—[Special].—It does indeed look as if Langston was losing his hold upon the colored people in this place, judging from the small crowd assembled in the court-house to listen to R. H. Armistead, of Petersburg, address them in his (Langston's) behalf. There was only 26 negroes present when counted at 8 o'clock. When the inquiry is made, "What's the matter with Langston?" the response, "He's all right," does not burst upon the ear as heretofore. The false rumors, first, that Langston was to withdraw, and second, that both he and Arnold had been pulled down and Mr. Gaines put up is thought to have wrought a wonderful change in the hearts and minds of the negroes, and that good to the Democratic party has been the result.

DR. CURRY'S SPEECH.

Enthusiastic Welcome Home at Old Market Hall.

THE ISSUES OF THE DAY ABLY DISCUSSED.

Democratic vs. Republican Vote.

The meeting in the Old Market Hall last night was a grand success. All the seats were occupied early in the evening, and later on "standing room" only could be secured. The audience was graced by the appearance of a number of ladies, who sat on each side of the platform.

In rear of the stage were seated Mr. W. W. Henry, Mayor Ellyson, Messrs. Wortham, Davis, Dickerson, Wingo, Higgins, Ezekiel, Christian, Pleasant, and others.

Mr. Ryan called the meeting to order and introduced Mayor Ellyson, who made an appropriate speech, introducing

HON. J. L. M. CURRY,

ex-Minister to Spain.

Dr. Curry thanked the audience for his reception, and made a speech which was replete with telling hits. He said that if the Northern Republican politicians could be believed Virginia was the most ardent of thieves. But everything that could be done was always done by the Republicans to vilify the South, but when Democracy took hold of the reins of government sectionalism ended.

To exemplify this he referred to his own appointment as Minister to Spain and his visit to the President, when he told the President that the interests of the Republic were as safe in the hands of a Virginia Democrat as in those of any other Democrat, and when he saw the President after his resignation had been tendered, the President said, "What you said was so."

THE FIRST TEST OF A PUBLIC MAN

is the public test. What has President Cleveland done? He has proven himself a man. He has shown himself to be a President. He has demonstrated that in the words of the late lamented (8) Sheridan he is "not afraid." He has shown by his actions that he is ready for any emergency, and that no nation will dare ginsay him.

The speaker then referred to the corruption seen in the Republican Congress of the past years, but, said he, "where is the man who found that Grover Cleveland ever did an act that required an investigation?"

Years ago, he said, we made a surplus by the sale of public lands. Now we have a yearly surplus which is taken from the people. This process of getting a surplus is nothing but downright robbery.

Each party wants to get rid of the surplus, but the Democratic party wants to reduce it by reducing taxation, while the Republican party wants to reduce the revenue by raising taxation.

He spoke of the Ben Harrison policy of buying bonds at a premium of nearly 100 per cent. on the purchase price, and asked if any one in the audience could tell on what he was not taxed. The Old Roman had said in a speech that the people were taxed from head to heels. (Applause.) What the Old Roman said was true, and everybody knew it. (Laughter and applause.)

is the tax that a merchant gives to a government in order to do business. The merchant pays ten, twenty, fifty or one hundred per cent. on the goods which he sells. The merchants who have bought these goods pay to the home government taxes oftentimes double the value of the goods which they wear or sleep under.

He talked at length on this subject. He referred to

A FACT OFTEN OVERLOOKED, that if there should be a failure of the crops in the wheat and corn districts for only one year there would be a famine.

He then proceeded to discuss at length the political situation as it appeared at present, and concluded as follows: An united country is with us. We have a duty to perform, and that duty is to re-elect Cleveland. We want low instead of high taxes. We want cheap instead of high clothing, and cheap necessities instead of cheap luxuries.

A Cincinnati Sensation.

CHICAGO, November 2.—A Tribune special from Cleveland, Ohio, says: A rather sensational side issue in the Axworthy case has turned up. The examination of the city's accounts shows a deficit of $17,0
